A family at the heart of French country music.

The Mariotti Brothers are, first of all, a family. Jean-Pierre "Mario" Mariotti has been a professional guitarist since the 1960s and has played pedal steel since 1970. His sons trained at the conservatoire — first prize in guitar at the Paris Conservatoire for Philippe, first prize in violin virtuosity in Lausanne for Laurent — before joining him on stage in 2001.

On stage, the two brothers take turns on lead vocals, with Mario on guitars and pedal steel, Ben Marmier on drums and Fred Clavel on bass and double bass. The repertoire blends their own songs with the classics that shaped them — Waylon Jennings, Merle Haggard, Johnny Cash, Elvis Presley, the Everly Brothers, the Shadows — made for dancing as much as for listening.

Nine records, from Cowboy Style (2002) to Rock & Roots (2023). The Country Rendez-Vous in Craponne, Mirande, the French Riviera Country Festival, Châteaurenard, Évreux, Santa Susanna in Spain, the festivals of French-speaking Switzerland. Cover stars of Country Music Mag and the Country Web Bulletin, followed by their fan club since 2005, and more than six hundred concert videos filmed by the audience.
